Bill Analysis

SB 1395 requires for-profit private institutions of higher education, religious institutions, or any other institution authorized as a degree-granting institution to disclose on their websites, in all promotional digital and print media, and in all contracts for instruction that the institution is a for-profit business. The measure also requires the disclosure to be of a font size that is as large or larger than any other text on the institution's website, promotional media, or contracts.
