Research Analysis

The conference committee substitute to HB 1599 establishes that municipal zoning decisions are legislative in nature and valid unless the ordinance is proved to lack a substantial relation to public health and safety or if it constitutes an arbitrary exercise of police power. The measure also establishes that municipal platting decisions are quasi-judicial in nature and gives the Planning Commission and the City Council of a municipality the discretion to determine a plat's compliance with regulations, codes, and ordinances. In the case of a preliminary or final plat denial, the objecting governing body member is required to identify their basis for denial. Comprehensive plans are allowed to be used as a guide when making zoning or plat decisions, but decisions are required to be based on objective and relevant facts and municipal code.

While the measure makes no changes to the public notice and hearing requirements for proceedings to discuss a proposed rezoning application, governing bodies are prohibited from basing their decision making upon the presence, number, or magnitude of opposition or protest to the application.
