Fiscal Analysis

SB621 creates a new Oklahoma Workforce Commission ("Commission"). It does allow the Commission employ or contract for personnel to carry out the purposes of the Commission, establishes a revolving fund that may receive appropriations, and perform specific duties such as enter into contracts or administer grants. There is no appropriation into the revolving fund created.

There will be some costs to starting a new Commission in addition to ongoing operational costs needed, but currently unknown. As there is no revenue measure for the Commission to be self-funded, it will likely need appropriations to help fund the Commission. Therefore, there is likely to be a fiscal impact to the state budget.

The changes in the floor amendment do not affect the fiscal impact of the measure.
