Bill Analysis

SB 624 prohibits any government entity from requesting a reverse-location court order or a reverse-keyword court order. No such entity may use data gathered from such an order. The measure provides that no person in the state shall be required to comply with such an order issued by this state or another state. The measure also prohibits such entities from making a reverse-keyword request or using any data gathered from such a request. If a person's name or other identifying information was derived from such an order or request, they shall be notified of the violation. Such persons may institute a civil action against such an entity that violated this prohibition.
